THE JUNE RISE.

Broken Levees Flood a Great Area of Country.

Forcing the People from Their Homes and Drowning Stock.

Loss to Crops and Other Property Very Great.

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—In East St. Louis proper the situation is much the same as yesterday. The Bowman dyke is still intact, and protects the business part of the city. Outside is nothing but water. At a point a short distance above Venice the water broke a fearful crevasse in the Chicago & Alton railroad embankment, and about 600 feet of track disappeared in an instant, and the gap has been widening ever since. Parallel with this embankment ran the Indianapolis & St. Louis and the Wabash tracks, and they too went down in quick succession, cutting off all direct communication with the north. These breaks gave the water a speedy exit to the eastward and all day a steady and rapid current had been passing out toward the bluffs, and the water is now spreading over all the bottom land north of the old Ohio & Mississippi railroad embankment, which crosses the bottom between East St. Louis and Caseyville.

It does not seem possible to restore these tracks, and the probabilities are that no effort will be made to repair the embankment until the water recedes. In the meantime the Chicago & Alton, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Indianapolis & St. Louis roads will convey their passengers to and from St. Louis and Alton by steamer, and trains for the north and east are made up at the latter place. The Wabash will use the Vandalia & Illinois Central lines to Decatur.

The break in the Chicago & Alton track has flooded nearly all the eastern part of Venice, and forced many families to vacate their houses. A considerable portion of the town west of the track is submerged, the Venice and Enterprise elevators are closed, and the transfer stock yards on the bank of the river are no longer available for use. The damage to the elevators and stockyards will amount to from $15,000 to $17,000.

All the country in the rear and to the east of Venice is inundated. The amount of farm land under water on the American bottoms, north of East St. Louis, is said to be 10,000 to 15,000 acres, and the loss to crops will aggregate $20,000 at a moderate estimate. Other statements put both the area of land and the loss to crops at a much higher figure. At East Carondolet, six miles below here on the Illinois side of the river, the situation is said to be deplorable. Fully three-fourths of the families in the town are quartered in three school houses, and a few residences on the ridge of high ground along the track of the St. Louis & Cairo railroad. Unless they receive assistance there will be great suffering among them. From this point to the bluffs, four miles, and southward for ten or twelve miles the country is submerged and nearly all the farmers ruined. This can also be said of very many farmers elsewhere on the bottom. The little town of Cahokia, a short distance from Carondolet, is all under water, and the inhabitants move about only in skiffs.

The previous estimate of the damage in this region is said to be much too low. It is now stated that fully 10,000 acres of wheat alone are from two to six feet under water, and as much more of corn, potatoes and other crops is submerged, causing a loss of $200,000. It is also stated that the St. Louis & Cairo, and the Belt road, a part of which extends to East Carondelet, have been damaged fully $50,000.

Creve Coeur lake, twenty miles west of here, has overflowed its western bank and flooded all of the adjacent low land. An immense ice house belonging to the Creve Coeur company was undermined and fell, entailing a loss of $40,000, and the railroad depot, hotel and other property sustained considerable damage.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The Journal's Alton, Ill., special says: The magnitude of the disaster from floods below this city is just beginning to be disclosed. The break of the dyke below this city has caused destruction covering a wide area. The Soy Carte bottoms are ruined for the year. Thousands of families between Louisiana and Crawfordsville are homeless and fleeing before the floods. Stock to the number of 6,000 head have already drowned in the American bottoms. Telegraph communication is seriously interrupted.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—The river is still rising slowly but the situation both here and at East St. Louis is unchanged. Bowman's dyke still stands the pressure and that and other weak points are constantly being strengthened. Threats were made last night to cut what is known as the Madison County dyke, which is a high embankment running easterly from the river a mile and a half above and midway between Brooklyn and Venice, but after a long and angry wrangle between a number of inhabitants of the former place and some people living north of the dyke it was decided that nothing should be done till to-day, as cutting the dyke would let more water into Brooklyn and inundate that part of the town not already submerged. The people are very determined and guarded the levee all night with shot guns and other weapons, but so far as known no attempt was made to interfere with it.

A dispatch from Bismarck says the Yellowstone river is already as high as last year and the Missouri river at that point is rising. Telegrams from other places high up the Missouri indicate that the usual June rise has commenced and in all likelihood some part of it will reach here before the present flood recedes to any great extent.

St. Louis, June 25.—The river has risen three inches to-day and is still coming up slowly. Farmers and land owners on the American bottom and residents of Venice and other towns between East St. Louis and Mitchell held a meeting at Venice this afternoon and adopted the following:

Resolved, That inasmuch as many of our people have been suffering by floods for the past three years and the present overflow has left destitute a large number, who without assistance will be unable to put in crops the coming year we deem it our duty to appeal for assistance for those thus situated. The situation is deplorable. The misery entailed upon our section of country is in the nature of a calamity and it will be at least 18 months before another crop can be raised, and in the meantime destitution continues for the sufferers.

All contributions should be sent to Henry Robinson, president of the board of trustees Venice, Ill., for distribution.

A large number of the sufferers referred to in this resolution are either camped in tents on ridges surrounded by water or in the open air on the bluffs beyond. Many also are housed in box cars on the track and a good many of them will be obliged to be fed as crops are totally destroyed and they are destitute of money or any of the necessaries of life.

KANSAS CITY, June 25.—The river at seven this evening was twenty-three feet four inches by the signal service gauge and rising steadily. There has been six inches rise since last midnight. The inhabitants of West Kansas City are preparing to move, one or two families having changed quarters to-day. There is much apprehension regarding ice house and other property along the river in that vicinity. The water is now considerably higher than at any time since '81.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 25.—A special to the State Journal from Tecumseh, forty-eight miles south, on the Big Nemaha river, says: The heaviest rain ever known fell here Friday night. The streams were already overflowed. This addition to the flood made a raging torrent on every creek. Fifty thousand dollars worth of bridges are washed out. Thousands of hogs and hundreds of cattle were drowned. The crops are badly damaged on bottom lands, which fortunately are a small part of the country. The total loss in the county is $300,000. Eight inches of water fell Friday night; six inches had fallen in the previous week. Houses are washed away and families flooded out; none drowned. Two persons were killed by lightning. Tecumseh, a town of 2,000 people, is out of groceries and flour.

Pauper Immigration.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Immigration commissioners held a special meeting to consider measures to prevent pauper immigration from Great Britain. This action is called for in view of large arrivals of pauper immigrants yesterday. Commissioner Stephenson said he had procured affidavits from several immigrants showing them to have been inmates of several poorhouses in Ireland and induced to come to this country by workhouse masters from whom they had received passage tickets and small sums of money. The commissioner considers the landing of paupers largely due to laxity in the management of Castle Garden and recommends an inspector. After further discussion it was resolved to instruct the secretary of the board to detain all immigrants proved to be sent here by funds furnished by the British government and to appoint a committee of the board to wait on the collector and present affidavits taken in regard to such cases and ask that steamship companies which brought such immigrants here be compelled to return them to the port from whence they came at their own expense. While the meeting was in progress the commissioners were informed that the steamer Anchoria had just arrived with immigrants whose passages were paid by the British government and who were paupers. It was resolved not to allow the Anchoria passengers to land until an inspector had made thorough investigation. The commissioners express themselves determined to put a stop to landing pauper immigrants from foreign countries.

The commissioners laid the matter before Collector Robertson who promised to take decisive action at once.

Internal Revenue Changes.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The president issued an executive order this afternoon promulgating changes made in the internal revenue collection districts. The order takes effect July 1st next, or as soon thereafter as practicable. The number of districts is reduced from 126 to 83. The changes in part are as follows:

Alabama—The two districts in this state are consolidated and Arthur Bingham is designated collector. This is a new appointment. The district will be known as the first district.

California—The first and fourth districts of this state are consolidated into one district, to which is also attached the district of Nevada, all to be known as the fourth district of California. Ames L. Frost, of Sacramento, is designated collector of the new district.

Georgia—The two districts are consolidated into one as the first district and Walter H. Johnson, collector.

Nebraska and Dakota are consolidated into one district and George W. Post is designated collector.

Colorado and Wyoming—These districts are consolidated into one with James S Wolfe collector.

Arizona and New Mexico—These two districts are consolidated into one and Silas H. Fisher collector.

Oregon and Washington are consolidated and Jno C. Cartwright collector.

Montana, Idaho and Utah are consolidated and Grant S. Hollister, of Salt Lake, is collector. This is a new appointment.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Money 2½ to 3, closing 2½; prime paper 4 to 5½; sterling exchange quiet 4.81½, demand 4.88; governments higher; railway bonds generally lower; stock market dull and generally featureless, though firm throughout the forenoon. It became more active in the afternoon. Denver in the last hour became conspicuous for weakness and declined 2 per cent in the last hour and 3½ from the highest prices of the day. The remainder of the market was also lower, the decline on the general list being ½ to 2 on active stocks and 1 per cent on D. L. & W. Sales for the day 160,000 shares.

Mining stocks very dull. Standard Consolidated sold 0.65; Horn Silver, 0.65; Iron Silver, 2.95; Navajo, 2.40 and 2.45; Sierra Grande, 1.20 and 1.25; Little Pittsburg, 1.05; Chrysolite, 1.15, and Sutro Tunnel 19 to 21. Sales 19,005.

Yellow Fever.

GALVESTON, June 25.—The private advices of terrible mortality at Vera Cruz from yellow fever received in Galveston by cable have been confirmed. The best information gleaned from a very reliable party in constant telegraphic communication with Vera Cruz is to the effect that the first and worst reports of Saturday were correct. Further communication from the Galveston quarantine show the ship Inytien, recently from Vera Cruz, had no communication with any vessels there besides lighters. This takes away the foundation from reports contradicting it, and besides the Hayticn's officers for quarantine reasons would be directly interested in suppressing news of such an alarming nature.

Deads of Blood.

RICHMOND, Va., June 25.—Colonel B. S. Faranholt, of Essex county, was killed by a village blacksmith. They had previously quarreled and the blacksmith making threats, the colonel visited his shop with five-pound weights and had his head crushed with a sledge hammer. The colonel was a wealthy farmer.

HUNTSBORO, Ala., June 25. James Broom, white, expostulated with a negress for insulting his wife, and the negress stabbed him with a butcher knife, with which he then killed her. Broom is fatally injured.

A Russian Fire.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 25. A number of warehouses used for storing herrings and cotton on the island of Gutujewesky, at the mouth of the Neva, is burning. Several vessels are also on fire. To estimate the amount of damage is impossible.

LATER—Grigorieff's warehouses and sawmills, many private houses, steam flour mills belonging to the crown, a chemical factory, bone mill and cotton store with 3,000 bales of cotton were destroyed. The loss is already 1,500,000 roubles.

Printers' Demands.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Union compositors of the daily papers in this city voted by a large majority to exact forty-five cents per thousand ems for type setting on the morning and forty cents on the evening papers July second. They are now paid forty and thirty-seven cents respectively. Publishers of the Tribune, Inter-Ocean, Daily News and Journal decline to accede to the demand but propose to offer abandoned situations to new men.

Famine at Labrador.

QUEBEC, June 25.—Great distress is reported among fishing families along the Labrador coast owing to detention of spring supplies by the jam of gulf ice along their shores. It is feared some deaths from starvation have already occurred.

A Georgia Cyclone.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 25. A special to the Constitution from Elberton says a cyclone passed over that place Sunday evening and killed Byron Bell, colored, and blew down sixteen buildings, including three churches.

Hanlan's Intentions.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Edward Hanlan, the champion oarsman, declares his intention to become a resident of this city. He expresses the hope of beating all records this summer and then stop rowing.

SUNDAY HAPPENINGS.

Seventy persons were drowned in the floods in Silesia.

At Richmond, Virginia, Dr. W. T. Crutchfield was probably fatally stabbed by L. F. Mason. The affair grew out of an old feud.

A collision occurred between two trains on the Coney Island railroad, demolishing two engines and two cars, but none of the passengers were hurt.

The raid of the union sailors upon the non-union crews excited marine circles at Milwaukee, and a close watch is being kept to prevent further attacks.

At Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, a lad named Andrew Mitchell fell several hundred feet down a shaft in the Enterprise colliery and was horribly mangled.

Owing to the misunderstanding of a new time table, two freight trains on the Chicago & Alton railroad were run together in the eastern part of Kansas City. No person was hurt.

The body of William Childers, a Kentucky desperado, was found near Williamstown, Kentucky, and Haden Northcutt, whose sister had been seduced by Childers, confessed that he shot him.

GENERAL NEWS.

Crook's Captives Make Love Speeches at San Carlos.

Come the Scene of a Disaster with Sixty-Seven Victims.

Changes Made in Internal Revenue Collection Districts.

Renegades at San Carlos.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—A dispatch from San Carlos, Arizona, says: By order of General Crook the Indians of the San Carlos reservation were called by the commanding officer of that post to greet the returned Chiricahuas and give expression to their views in regard to their remaining on the reservation. The meeting was presided over by the commanding officer and was addressed by Loco, chief of the Warm Spring Indians; Bonito, leader of the party who killed Judge McComas and wife and captured their son Charlie, and Manago, sub-chief of Nana's remnant of Victorio's old band. The substance of their remarks was that they were glad to get back to the agency to be under the protection of General Crook, to settle down and be good Indians as they have promised the general. They saw they had no friends at San Carlos and want to go to the Apache country to be with friends. The love speeches of the captive chiefs showed they realized the hostility of the agency Indians whose silence at the meeting was significant.

WASHINGTON, June 25. The following dispatch was received at the department of the interior to-day from Wilcox, the 24th:

"Renegade Indians were forced on the reservation yesterday and still arrive.

[Signed] "WILCOX, Agent."

On receipt of this Acting Secretary Joslyn immediately brought it to the attention of Secretary Lincoln, who assured him that the agent must be in error as he had given positive orders to General Crook to keep the renegades apart from the others. He added that he would reiterate his orders to General Crook. As Wilcox is distant nearly one hundred miles from San Carlos it is believed at the Indian office that the agent has been misinformed.

A Show Horror.

LONDON, June 25.—A dispatch from Como says: While a show was in progress in a large hall over a tavern sparks from a Bengal light set fire to a quantity of straw and firewood in an adjacent room. On perceiving the flames the showman shouted "Fire," but the spectators thought the cry was merely a realistic detail of the show and remained seated. Cries were soon raised outside the hall. The audience, thinking an affray had arisen in the street, barred with a heavy table the door leading from the hall. They did not discover their mistake until the flames burst into the room. After the fire was extinguished 67 charred corpses were found near the table, including the bodies of the showman and his wife.

A large portion of the bodies are women and children. The wounded were hurt by leaping through the windows. A child was flung out of a window by its mother and fell upon a pile of straw. This the only person present in the hall not hurt.

The Queen's Health.

LONDON, June 25. The queen's condition is greatly improved. She was able to walk from the train to her carriage on her arrival at Windsor from Balmoral. The queen has invited the painter Angeli to England to take a life-sized portrait, which she will present Emperor William on the 25th anniversary of his assumption to the regency of Prussia.

That Virginia Duel.

RICHMOND, June 15. The friends of Beirne and Elam had a long conference to-day, the result of which is not known, but it is believed arrangements for a meeting were nearly completed. It is positively asserted that Elam has been in Richmond since yesterday and left the city to-night.

SUCCESS IN CHRISTIAN WORK.

Abstract of a Sermon at the Christian Church.

Rev. John C. Hay preached last Sunday morning from the following text:

And Jesus came, and spoke unto them, saying: "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Amen. Matthew xxvii: 18-20.

This last promise of the Lord Jesus is precious beyond measure. During the eighteen and a half centuries which have elapsed since Christ returned to his Father this promise has helped men in their labor. Success in our work has two parts: First, bringing men to Christ, and second, building up the converts.

The words were spoken at the close of Christ's ministry. He had died on the cross, and during forty days had appeared occasionally to his disciples.

First—Right and power to send. Upon men out is laid on this foundation, "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." Let us remember that power over all intelligences except the father supreme has been given to Christ.

Second—Mark the word "go." It means exert yourself.

Third—There are two words "teach" used in the text. One means make disciples. Go make disciples, and then baptize them, and afterwards teach them to observe all things, their duties, their relations to their fellowmen, everything that relates to the Christian life.

Fourth—Always or all the days indicates that all servants for all time till the master come again shall lead.

But the promise is conditional. If you do this, I will be with you always even unto the end. The object is not to get people into the church merely, but to make them Christians, and then they will come into the church. The question is but the number in the Christian life.

They are to teach all things, not some merely, but the whole length and breadth of Christian life. Christ will be with that preacher who declares the whole counsel of God, and he will not be with the church or preacher that does not. Let us labor to help others up into a higher Christian life after they are started.

Numbers, financial strength, and social standing are all useful. But it is a mistake to consider these the real strength of the church. Its spiritual power is the secret of its success over pagan religions and the scepticism of keen intelligent men of modern times. The banner of the cross has been borne to victory by those strong not in themselves but in the power of his might.

Pentecost was the fulfilling of this promise in the coming of the Holy Ghost. Remember Christ is the divine man. As a man he could not be present everywhere. The disciples were taught more perfectly and the Divine Spirit was needed for the miracle-working power, a power needed then but not now because Christianity has been tried.

The Lord Jesus Christ watched over his servants and gave them boldness in His work. That is what men need. There was a time when the purity of the church was in danger and the one thing needed was a judgment of God, and Ananias and Sapphira were struck dead. He will sweep from the earth the church that misrepresents Him. And when Stephen, who was so necessary to the church, was killed, there was a man to take his place, Saul, one of his persecutors, and to be a most powerful advocate of his cause.

He directed the movements of His disciples. Paul desired to see Rome. He went as a prisoner, but where he could not have gone as a free man, into Cæsar's household. John Bunyan, in Bedford jail, seemed lost to the church, but he did more than he could have done outside.

Christ promised that He would be with His ministering servants to make up all that was needful to give success. The Holy Spirit gave us the word of Christ. We do not need inspiration now because we have the word. But we need the strength of the spirit. When a man has the self-conceit taken out of him he is glad to take the divine help.

We do not work alone. His arm is not shortened that he can not save. The world and system of worlds are preserved by the power of the Lord Jesus Christ.

A genuine success is sure to attend those who co-work with God. We never want to get our vision narrowed down to the little patch in which we live. Small churches often do much for the world by training young people to care for God's work. Success in the long run depends not more in making new disciples than in training those already made. The duty of all Christians is to work. God did not put us here to be slothful. It is a great sin to neglect to do what we can for Christ. To you who are not Christians one reason why you should hasten to come in is that you owe to God not only love and gratitude but your best work for him. Would that to-day some one might not only to come to him to be saved but to work for him and give him the remnant of your days.

The full text of Wade Hampton's speech at Camden, S. C., does not help him much. It will furnish many an argument for republican votes this fall. Senator Hampton insists that his side did rightly though whipped. He ought to have cut the wires before mailing such a speech.

Our telegraph states that the internal revenue district of Wyoming has been consolidated with the district of Colorado, and Mr. J. S. Wolfe has been appointed collector. This will be heard with satisfaction by our readers. Mr. Wolfe has been a careful, faithful officer and deserved the appointment.

The Idaho Springs Gazette is the only one of the country papers that we have yet seen that did not thank and congratulate Governor Grant for not having called the extra session. We trust the Denver papers will acknowledge this and join with the New York Sun in praising this journal. All of our other exchanges have very earnestly thanked Governor Grant for his conservative action.

According to the Republican the total receipts for the seven Thomas concerts were $8,500. It says that even this large amount made it a failure. We regret this. A success would have induced other good musical organizations to come here, not to speak of Thomas again. Damrosch's concerts were an utter failure speaking from a purely financial point of view. The minstrels, however, will have crowded houses in July.

The machine in Pennsylvania, as in other places in the country is for a compromise with the independents. The election last fall showed conclusively that while the machine might control conventions, it could not control elections. In every state where the machine attempts to arrogantly run the conventions, their action was repudiated at the polls. This was true in a marked degree of New York, Pennsylvania and Colorado. It is evident that if the republican party wishes to win next year, its policy and platform must be broad enough to embrace all republicans. The party cannot be run in the interest of a clique and be successful. Party ties are too weak. This was amply illustrated in our city, county and state politics last fall.

Though Senator Rollins received the nomination in the republican caucus of the legislature in New Hampshire it is evident he will not be elected. He has received 129 votes in open convention, but it will take 160 to nominate. This vote he cannot get and his present strength is going to pieces. It is the old fight of Senator Ferry in Michigan over again. The trouble is that he run the federal patronage to secure his renomination. This has so exasperated many members of his party that the use of patronage instead of helping him insures his defeat. The same was true of Senator Ferry. It is one of the good signs of the day that the use of patronage for personal ends does a candidate more harm than good. When this fact is fully appreciated, civil service reform will be comparatively easy.

The success of the artesian well experiments in Denver is of more value to Colorado than any other event of the year. The cost of the experiments has been slight and the results big with expectation. The opinion of the most experienced observers is that the same success will follow efforts made in places equally near to the mountains. The expensive experiments made heretofore have been too far from the mountains and have been failures. The present experiments may result in ascertaining the formation into which the wells should be sunk and also the direction of some of these underground streams. It is possible that we are to find the simplest solution of our water question in the artesian well. We hope some one will have the means and public spirit to make the experiment here.

The following from the New York Times is refreshing reading: "Ex-Senator Dorsey, "last evening, in conversation with a party of "friends, in answer to a question as to "whether or not he proposed to pay his re"spects to the newspapers that had been "maligning him, said: 'If God gives me "strength, and I have money enough, I in"tend to go for them, especially the New "York Times.' Having heard of this threat "of Dorsey the Times says: 'If Thomas J. "Brady, Stephen W. Dorsey, or any other "star route thief chooses to vindicate himself "in a libel suit, the Times will welcome the "opportunity to do the republican party and "the country the greatest service of which it "is capable, by proving in a court of law that "they are thieves and that it has told the "truth in calling them such."

The Denver Tribune has contained some very caustic articles on Dorsey, Brady and others of the star route gang from the beginning of the trials. They were written by Mr. Rothacker. Unfortunately he was absent at the time of the termination of the trials, and as his paper has been silent. But yesterday's Tribune contained a letter from him from Colorado which will be very interesting reading for those dissatisfied with the results of the trials. We quote a few passages:

It has been claimed that the prosecution was badly conducted. It only a modified sense was the case. It was dragged out to an apparently interminable length, but even if it had been contracted to one-sixth of the time, it is doubtful if there could have been a conviction. The statute of limitation and a badly-drawn indictment were in favor of the accused. They had a doubtful jury in a doubtful city. That pictorial mouther, Ingersoll, worked off one of his anthithe rhetorical chromos on the little twelve and it impressed them because they were ignorant, still susceptible to fine lights. Argument could not reach them because they could not understand it. Facts were beyond them. Lifted by chance, through the medium of an inadequate jury system, to a position of national importance, the dozen of miscellany dozed and nodded through the trial until the end came, and then the old English order for a deprivation of light and food until they would agree, conquered three doubtful ones and an infamous verdict was added to the long list of jury inefficiencies. It will always stand in the record of the trial that one juryman fell in a manta-a-pota fit three days before the verdict. It will always be the impression of history that he must have been a fair type of the rest. For, when the trial closed, the foreman was a lion hunting cheap drinks in cheaper vindication gatherings and disgracing his eminence in importance as he had disgraced his alleged intelligence. Dorsey delivered second-hand Ingersollisms to drunken negroes, and the jury always had a representative on hand to share in the liquor and the license. When Jere Dunn was acquitted in Chicago there was exactly the same kind of a drunk in the cemetery where justice lay buried. The two cases were twin defiances of law.

The charges against the prosecution came first from the star route papers. This was the inspiration of all the after talk. It centered mainly on the fact that government counsel were being paid for what they did, and to be paid for services rendered, struck the thieves who were paid for services not rendered, as a gross violation of all proprieties. The speeches were long, of course, but it must not be forgotten that the charge required a complicated argument. Complicated as the argument was thought, it was clear enough to demand from intelligence a verdict of guilty. It has been asserted, (and extravagantly) that the trial cost a million of dollars. If this is so it was still worth the money. The thieves had stolen four millions, and their indictment has saved the government a great deal of money over and above the trial. If you can not convict a scoundrel it is at least worth while to drive him away from your money chest. This much has been done.

Mrs. Bell, wife of Professor Graham Bell, the electrician, was one of the deaf pupils of Dr. Gallaudet in Washington. Professor Bell first met her at a reception at the college, and so expert was she in reading speech by the motion of the lips that they conversed together for some time without his discovering her infirmity. At last, walking through the conservatory, where some of the Chinese lanterns had gone out, he made some remark requiring an answer. But none was forthcoming, it being not light enough for her to see the movements of his lips. He repeated the remark, and again got only silence for reply. Mystified, he soon escorted her back to the parlor, and then, in the brilliant light, asked her why she did not answer him; but his amazement was redoubled tenfold at her ready reply: "I have never heard a sound in all my life."

Bret Harte's Early Stories.

James Herbert Morse, who concludes in the July Century his two papers on "The Native element in American Fiction," says of Bret Harte's waning genius: "It will be remembered how like a conquering hero Bret Harte came from California in the summer of 1871. An enterprising firm in Boston had caught the gleam of a new light, a new Dickens in verse and story, and with the most magnificent offers they tempted him east. His coming was like a royal progress. Almost without a hint from these enterprising wise men of the east, all flocked to welcome the new star. And the star was wonderfully luminous, equally brilliant in prose and verse. When Bret Harte, after a sojourn of many years in the mint and mines of the mountains told us of Miss Miggles, of Jim and Kentuck, and Tennessee's Partner, of Jack Hamlin and Calaveras Starbattle, of Poker Flat, Sandy Bar, Smith's Pocket, and the Wingdam Turnpike, we began to see the elements of life in their coarser forms. Here was passion both of the angelic and the demonic sort in its original, natural conditions, released from the fetterings of social restraint, and subject only to the instinctive law of the heart. The material was absolutely new—a new phase of life, and every individual specialized by the novelty of the conditions. Power of contrast in characterization, skill in heightening effects, the perception of oddity, combined with a happy faculty of engrafting it upon the recognized human types, the keen sense of humor of a new sort—a kind of devil's humor suited to the diabolism of the surroundings, a tender feeling for the essential goodness of the human heart, running over with the gospel of grace into the very mouth of the pit—these were the chief qualities of the new writer. They were all Dickensy; yet original observation, impressibility, and a fine power of imitation, had given them an individuality that was helped out by the wholly new atmosphere of the mining slopes. For the first three years, it was evident that Bret Harte was reproducing what he had seen, and had seen what he reproduced—always, of course with a hint of his own "personal equation." The scenes and men stood out vividly, and made as distinct an impression on the mind as anything in the English novelist. The mind could trace the individual features of each person. There was in the writer the same deftness of hand which we to-day see in the Russian novelist Tourguenoff—the power of painting a grim, strong scene in a few words. There was a kindly humor playing over the scenes, and the bright light of nature flashed upon the canvas. The author seldom missed the artistic center, as he seldom missed the happy climax of a humorous situation. However much he might lose the moralist's point of view, he was unerring as to the artist's. But he was not an analytic writer; he was as far from Henry James' method as a man could well be. He never analyzed, or reflected, or differentiated nicely, but simply laid on color. He had seen his effects in nature, and a felicitous gift enabled him to select the fortunate pigments; a swift journalistic judgment, fearless of consequences, told him when he had done enough for his purposes, and there he stopped. But at last the habit of bringing about a climax quickly soon became a trick, and something—was it the necessity of frequent production, or intellectual indolence, or what?—something soon left on the public the impression of an exhausted mine. Certain it is that the best things were done in these early years. As the author left California behind him, and the scenes of '49' grew less vivid in his mind, they became less valuable as novelistic material. Yet what was already produced will always remain a vigorous, brilliant, original contribution to American romance."

General Cler.

Trouble bar

Gen. Cler, promoted for his valor in the affair of the Sapun redoubt, but still commanding his zouaves, distinguished himself in the battle of Traktir. In their crushing charge he advanced too far, and would have been killed or taken prisoner if there had been any rally by the Russians. His men made a desperate plunge into the enemy's ranks and brought him back in triumph. One of their buglers was then ordered by Gen. Cler to sound the retreat. At the moment when he put his bugle to his mouth a round shot broke his right arm. With his left hand he quickly picked up his instrument, which had fallen, and sounded the retreat. "Well done, my brave boy," said Gen. Cler. "Ah, general," replied The bugler, "is it not lucky that it was not the violin which I had to play?" At the attack of the Sapun redoubt, when he could not keep back his zouaves, he had called out to them: "My children, if you will not be good, I shall never again lead you into action." He praised them after the battle of Traktir for charging to bring him out of the crowd of enemies. "My general," answered one of them, "if you will not be good we will never again follow you into action." He laughed heartily at this retort to his threat on a previous occasion. Those terms existing between French commanding officers and their men seemed strange to British officers, but their respective duties were not the worse fulfilled on that account.

Bloodshed in Ireland.

DUBLIN, June 25.—A terrible affray occurred at Curag last evening between a party of County Mayo militiary and some English soldiers. Five were killed.

Later news shows the Curragh affray was between North Mayo and Dublin militia men, not between the former and British troops. It originated in a gambling dispute during which the Mayo men called the Dublin men "Careys" and "Invincibles." The fight lasted over two hours, each side using stones and firearms freely. The conflict was only quelled by the officers threatening to fire on their men. One of the men killed was a sergeant.

The latest report is that seventeen men were wounded and one killed.

Oil Factory Burned.

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—The Planters' Cotton Seed oil works in Algiers was struck by lightning during a thunder storm this evening and entirely destroyed. This was the largest cotton seed oil factory in existence. The loss is roughly estimated at one million dollars including the building, stock and machinery. It is said to be fully insured. Several cottages adjoining the oil works were destroyed. Five firemen were slightly scalded by the explosion of a tank.

MINING MATTERS.

Notes Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

THE NELLIE S. STRIKE.

Leadville Chronicle.

The strike yesterday evening in the Nellie S. is attracting considerable attention. It is not known exactly how much there is of the rich dirt or rather talc, but it is said there are about two feet of it. The ore is composed of free gold and copper in a talc formation, and was found at a depth of 45 feet from the surface. A small quantity of the rich talc was taken to Assayer Wood, who assayed it, and returned the wonderful result of $45,000 to the ton. The gold is $990 fine, being finer than gold coin. The material in which the mineral was found, has been thrown upon the dump as worthless. Yesterday Peter Breen, one of the lessees, concluded to bring some of the stuff to town and have it assayed, when it gave the wonderful result above mentioned. The strike is regarded as the richest that has ever been made in the camp, and demonstrates the fact that there is somewhere about the head of California gulch an immense deposit of gold which has supplied the rich placer mines that have been worked for years in California gulch. To say that the lessees of the mine are highly elated over their splendid find, would fail to express their true feeling. This will doubtless give a new value to the properties on Printer Boy hill, and lend a new impetus to the leasing mania that has recently raged for properties in that locality.

CRESTED BUTTE NOTES.

CRESTED BUTTE, June 17.

Our town has been thrown into a state of gloom for the past three days by a serious accident on Wednesday morning in the Colorado Coal and Iron company's coal mine, by which one of the men, Peter Reed, was killed, and two others, Peter Kinney and J. H. Golder, were badly burnt. The two latter are getting on favorably, and Reed was buried this morning after a mass and funeral service performed by Father Quinn, of Gunnison. A large number of the town's people of all denominations attended the service. An inquest was held yesterday, which lasted till late at night when a sealed verdict was sent on to Gunnison so that we do not know the exact terms of it, but I have reason to believe that the Colorado Coal and Iron company was exonerated, although a strong effort was made to bring them in liable for damages. Knowing there was an unusual quantity of gas in the mine, the men had been warned and provided with safety lamps, but—the old story. They took a naked light with them to light their lamps, hence the explosion, which was very severe, blowing down several doors, with other damage to the mine. These, however, were repaired yesterday morning, but the men, in accordance with a foolish custom, would not go to work till the dead man was buried, so that the mine has been idle and the coke ovens left to burn as there was not any reserve of slack to charge them if they had been drawn. This will entail a heavy loss on the company, and a loss of two days' wages, representing about $750, to the men, which is paying pretty dear for keeping up a meaningless custom.

There is not any local news, but there has been a very satisfactory account brought down by our rustling young townsman, Jim Groonendyke, with regard to the new carbonate strike near Gothic. It is about four miles from there, on the Scofield road. This would be described by some of the outside camps in big type as a "great strike," etc., with a bushel of lies to gull tenderfeet. I need only say that C. O. Avery, of Gothic, has an interest in it—verb sap. We are a very modest people, but don't quite hide our light under a bushel out of consideration for the outside world. If our visible and partly developed mining property were worked with the same energy, backed by capital, as the Nevada mines have been there would be millions in it." I was much pleased with the article on silver in your paper of the 13th inst. by Edward R. Holden. Although the season is late, there's time to do a good deal yet, but we want more men of the right stamp, with money—some of the "old timers" from Nevada.

BUNKER HILL GULCH.

Correspondence Salida Mail.

With all the excitement consequent upon the strikes of mineral in paying quantities all about us this portion of Salida's carbonate fields is remarkably quiet.

Your correspondent visited and inspected the Longfellow on Thursday and found that celebrated claim in first-class shape, the drift run from the shaft house showed pay mineral from the start. The drift is about 6x4 and at the breast shows about 5 feet solid of hard carbonates, underlying which is a streak of about 1 foot in thickness of very fine looking sand carbonate thoroughly filled with small globules of very fine looking galena and showing to the naked eye rich looking chlorides.

At a depth of 43 feet a drill has been started on the Bunker Hill claim and is now in about 17 feet, the contact which is being followed looks very fine and the boys at work upon the claim say they expect to strike the blow-out, for which they are drifting, by the middle of the week, and should they do so, look out for another boom in the camp. As soon as they cut the blow-out they propose going back and begin sinking again on their shaft, the bottom of which is entirely filled with as fine contact matter as exists in the camp.

The Albert lode, worked by Little Pittsburg parties from Leadville, is down about 30 feet and shows up equal to the expectations of its owners.

The Carbonate King is showing up some fine looking hard carbonates.

The Tiger, owned by John Kennedy, of Salida, will in a few days be started on its downward course and from the appearance of the bottom of the shaft much is expected. It certainly looks as though good pay mineral can not be far away.

The Mountain Lion incline is looking finely and promises well.

Of the other claims in the gulch that are being worked all look well and appear to be highly satisfactory to their owners. Many of them show very fine iron carbonates and all the different oxides of lead that are to be found in a carbonate formation.

By Universal Accord,

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use, by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effectual purgative Pill that medical science can devise. Being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use, and being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take. In intrinsic value and curative powers no other Pills can be compared with them; and every person, knowing their virtues, will employ them, when needed. They keep the system in perfect order, and maintain in healthy action the whole machinery of life. Mild, searching and effectual, they are especially adapted to the needs of the digestive apparatus, derangements of which they prevent and cure, if timely taken. They are the best and safest physic to employ for children and weakened constitutions, where a mild but effectual cathartic is required.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

Dr. M. August Fairchild, of Quincy, Illinois, having spent two days in Crystal Park, pronounces it a mountain Eden, in fact one of the most charming resorts she has visited in this section.

Mr. C. C. Clark has sold his sewing machine business, comprising a large stock of oils, needles, attachments, and the agencies of the White, Household and Singer machines to C. E. Aiken.

Mr. Henry Johns has opened the Manitou Park hotel for the season and any one patronizing that well known and popular place will be right royally entertained by him. Arrangements will soon be made for carrying passengers to and from the park.

Miss Helena Dorr, a former resident of Colorado Springs, and quite well known to many of our young people, arrived in the city a few days ago, and will make this her home for the present. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Carrie Dorr, and Miss Lizzie Cutler, of Des Moines, Iowa.

We saw yesterday a fine lot of Jucunda strawberries that came from the garden of Mr. W. R. Wheeler. They were the largest we have seen this season, though we doubt not other gardens show as good results. The small fruits raised in this city are a great credit to the growers.

Dr. B. P. Anderson has given up his practice in Denver and will spend a month or so at Manitou. While in business respects he was doing exceedingly well there the health of both himself and wife has been very poor, and he has concluded that there is no place like Colorado Springs and Manitou in which to live. The doctor will abandon the practice of medicine for a while.

F. C. Skinner, formerly of Colorado Springs, now of Denver, is rapidly developing into one of the fastest amateur runners of the country. He won a one hundred yards race at Denver on Saturday in which there were five contestants. Those who witnessed the race say that he kept even with the others until within twenty feet of the finish when he pushed ahead and won the race easily in ten and one fifth seconds.

Mr. Carithers, superintendent of water works, has been put on special patrol to see that the order in regard to the use of hydrant water for irrigation purposes is complied with. He is determined that the ordinance shall be enforced and those detected in the act of using water in violation of the ordinance will have to suffer. Mr. Carithers says that since the issuance of the order by Mayor Humphrey the pressure has been much better and there is at all times a good supply of water in the reservoir, in fact plenty for both domestic purposes and judicious irrigation. But the practice of allowing hydrants to run continually will have to be stopped.

NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS.

When the recent notice in regard to the use of the city water for the purposes of irrigation was issued it was thought that the hours named therein would meet the exigency of the occasion. But owing to the greatly increased use of the city water for the purposes above mentioned during the past two days, it becomes necessary to further limit its use; and I herewith give notice that on and after this date and until further notice, the ordinance relating thereto will be strictly enforced. All citizens are earnestly enjoined to adhere to the same, as the city is in a critical state concerning our water supply, and in case of fire disastrous results would inevitably follow. For the information of all I give below Sec. No. 1 of the ordinance "Relating to the Use of Water from the Water Works for the Purposes of Irrigation." J. F. HUMPHREY, Mayor.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 23, 1883.

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Colorado Springs:

SECTION NO. 1. No water shall be used from the system of water works of this city for irrigation purposes, except between the hours of five o'clock in the forenoon and eight o'clock in the forenoon, and between the hours of five o'clock in the afternoon and eight in the afternoon. f-22-6
